

GIANTS WEAK IN PINCHERS

MATHEWSON'S FINGER SPLIT BY LINE DRIVE

Bases Filled in Tenth With Nobody Out, but No Scoring—Brooklyn Take One From Cubs and Pirates Vanquished by Phillies—Reds Beat the Boston.

Thinkers were in all order for the Giants to go on to Chicago today, but the St. Louis Cardinals spoiled the chance. They beat the Giants for the third time in the present series, winning their second extra inning game this week. However, the Cubs and Pirates didn't gain any, which some consolation. The Brooklyn held up the Cubs, and the Phillies shut out the leaders. The Cincinnati won from the Boston. The results:

St. Louis, 4; New York, 3.
Brooklyn, 6; Chicago, 5.
Philadelphia, 3; Pittsburgh, 0.
Cincinnati, 2; Boston, 1.

The convincing Cardinals are making as much trouble for the Giants as the Pittsburgh did. The Cardinals do not pretend to be the "Pirates," but they are camping on the Giants' trail quite as disconcertingly. They hung on yesterday until they had won an eleven inning game. There was a time in the tenth when anything appearing on the field would have won for the New Yorks, but so infirm were they with their bats that they could not extract a run from a situation which found three men on the bases and nobody out. Most of the time the New Yorks played weak inside game and were without life.

The Cardinals had a good deal more show and pepper than the home team, drawing more determination when they were badly in need of a run. They sprang a baby in the sixth inning and allowed the New Yorks to tie them, but went at it with renewed ardor when they found out they were not to have a walkaway. Steve Evans, handed to Brennan by McGraw, showed his appreciation, or his resentment, at being shipped to New York, by doing enough individual cannonading to beat the New Yorks. One or two such soulful licks by the New Yorks with men on bases would have changed the result.

In the seventh inning the Cardinals batted the New Yorks rather than the home team. Delehanty riddled a liner at Mathewson which the latter made a grab for with his left hand. It was a terrific crack and split the middle finger of Mathewson's right hand, but it was in spite of the protection of the glove. Mathewson's finger was hurt, but he did not let it stop him. He pitched the ninth inning and the Cardinals won.

Before Mathewson settled down to a normal pace in the first inning the Cardinals had rapped him with a double, a single and a pile-up to two runs as a starter. They made a third in the fifth inning when McGraw's line drive hit Delehanty, and having extended to the latter the freedom of the first base was equipped for a triple by Hulsewit that scored Delehanty.

The Giants tied the score in the sixth, the only time they performed so well. Then they had the encouragement of St. Louis. Evans, who had pitched the first game, was hit by McGraw's line drive. McGraw's line drive hit Evans, who had pitched the first game, was hit by McGraw's line drive. McGraw's line drive hit Evans, who had pitched the first game, was hit by McGraw's line drive.

FORM STUDENT SCORES EMPIRE CITY RACING.

Says Past Performances and Handicap Figures Are Worthless—Other Methods Preferable—Stanley Ketchel Silent as to Langford Match Here.

"Past performances and handicap figures are worthless," said a prominent turf speculator who plays the races at Empire City yesterday. "A man who sticks to form simply crazy, for the excellent reason that the form is a fiction. Instead of spending his money by lamplight figuring out the chances of horses I've adopted another method which may bear more fruit. I've got a paddock badge and I am going to trail two or three of these Western fellows during the summer and the saddle and the oral betting ring. Whatever they play, that will be mine regardless of previous races or prices. Then there's another method I'm going to follow. When some of these Westerners have big reputations as 'winners' I'm going to slip up beside at least two noted layers and see what they are doing. If they hunch the odds for their oral patrons that means, in my belief, that these particular horses are in the class of those two layers have many an ace in the hole."

NEW YORK (A. L.), 6; DETROIT, 1.

DETROIT, July 20.—Little Jack Warhop held the hard hitting Tigers to one run today and the Highlanders took a 6-1 victory in winning by a 6-1 score. Warhop allowed five hits and struck out five and had it not been for a fumble by Chase would have scored a shutout. Donovan, who opposed the Detroit diabol, could not locate the plate and passed no less than five men.

Both teams broke the ice in the fifth. With Laporta gone in this round, Kietow doubled to be caught on the fly a minute later when Warhop hit him. Warhop went to second on the rundown and scored on Demmitt's triple to tie the right field corner. Detroit tied it up in their half, which Cobb opened with a double. Jones bunted in front of the pitcher and scored. Warhop threw, although Dave beat it. Cobb scored as the ball rolled away. Warhop was interested in the game by scoring three in the seventh. Laporta was safe on Bush's wild pitch. Kietow sacrificed and scored. Warhop fouled to Morarty. Donovan went completely in the air here and walked Demmitt. Austin and Chase, the last of the trouble in a run. Crawford dropped Schaefer's throw of Oberfeld's grounder and Demmitt. The Pad. Halket, Louie, S. Donovan, Chase of second get by him and Austin scored.

DETROIT was never dangerous after that, but the Highlanders continued their run making, scoring two in the ninth on hits by Chase, Kietow and Laporta. Donovan's throw of Oberfeld's grounder and Demmitt. The Pad. Halket, Louie, S. Donovan, Chase of second get by him and Austin scored.

JACK ATKIN IN FINE FORM

BIG SPRINTER WINS FLEETING-WING IN A GALLOP.

Runs Six Furlongs With 120 Pounds on 1:12 and Has His Field Bizz—Spoonster Comes to Life for a Killing—Eshau and Colnet Also Score.

After a long absence from the races Jack Atkin, the champion sprinter, showed his best form yesterday when he won the Fleeting Handicap, of 1,500, six furlongs, at Empire City. The big Sain horse, now trained by John Powers instead of H. R. Brandt, had worked a half mile in better shape than in any of his previous races. He was made a strong favorite at 7 to 5, with Rialto, 2 to 1, and Half Sovereign, 4 to 1, played to beat him. Picking up 180 pounds, Jack Atkin in spite of a slow break from the barrier was hustled along by V. Powers, who soon found an opening through which he rushed the Sain horse to the top. Then, taking the lead as he neared the far turn, Jack Atkin had the others dizzy, for he breezed in front of the rest of the way and was galloping at the end with three lengths to spare. Half Sovereign, who received thirteen pounds by the scale from Atkin, was an easy second, with Aradock, 10 to 1, getting up in the last lap to beat Rialto a head for third money.

It was ladies' day at Larchmont yesterday and the yachtmen had a rest from sport. Their vessels tugged restlessly at their moorings in the harbor, for a fine breeze was blowing to waste and the multicolored flags, which all well dressed were snapping defiantly in the wind.

On shore the members of the club were busy preparing for the afternoon and evening fete, and by 2 o'clock the fair visitors began to arrive. They took possession of the grounds, and every advantage of their privileges, for the members had recently voted against women, and it is only on state occasions that they are admitted to the house and grounds.
